

FLEET READY FOR ANY CRISIS

Secretary of Navy Satisfied With Inspection of Mighty Fighting Squadron

SALUTES SHAKE NEW YORK

President Will Today Review Greatest American War Fleet Ever Assembled

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—"The fleet has demonstrated its preparedness for any emergency and has shown the effectiveness of present organization," George Von L. Meyer, secretary of the navy, smiled as he made this statement this evening on board the president's yacht Mayflower, after having inspected 99 fighting ships of the Atlantic fleet assembled in the Hudson river for the greatest mobilization in the history of the American navy. President Taft will review the fleet tomorrow as it passes out to sea.

The Mayflower fired a salute of 19 guns as he left her side to visit the different flagships, and this salute was repeated by each of the seven vessels that he boarded, beginning with the Connecticut and ending with the little Dixie, tender of the torpedo fleet.

His calls completed, the secretary reboarded the Mayflower which had steamed to the upper end of the seven miles of warships and passed slowly southward along the entire line, saluting 19 times as he passed. "The echoes roared back from the New York shore after an interval so long that it seemed as if a second bombardment were going on in the streets of Harlem."

Members of the house committee on naval affairs followed the secretary on his visits to each of the flagships, and were honored with a salute of 17 guns. They, too, were gratified with the apparent efficiency and preparedness of the fleet, and when the party assembled on the Mayflower, hope was expressed that congress might yet "fit to create the position of vice admiral."

"The rank of the commander-in-chief should be commensurate with his great responsibilities," said Secretary Meyer; "and it is due his position that he should have the rank of vice admiral."

Rear Admirals Walnwright, Vreeland and Potter, and Fletcher, acting as the secretary's aides, endorsed this expression.

More Men Needed.

This mobilization has demonstrated, continued Secretary Meyer, that for our reserve fleet we should have a greater number of enlisted men. I have anticipated this, in part, by asking for 2,000 more men in this year's estimates which have now gone to the treasury department. These estimates provided for the maintenance and addition of these men, but they are no larger than those of last year."

FORMER GOVERNOR J. B. GRANT DEAD

End Comes at Missouri Health Resort Was Colorado Executive in 1883

DENVER, Nov. 1.—James Benton Grant, whose death occurred at Exe Springs, Mo., today, was for many years a leading figure in the business and political activities of Colorado. He was born in Russell county, Alabama, January 2, 1843, and as a lad of 18 served in the Confederate army. After the war he settled in Iowa, coming to Denver in 1876. He became interested in mines and smelters in Gilpin county and at Leadville, and in 1883 formed the Omaha and Grant Smelting company. This company afterward became a part of the American Smelting and Refining company and Mr. Grant was made managing director for this territory.

In 1883 he was elected governor of the Democratic ticket serving one term.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, James B. Grant Jr. who is a student at Yale, and Lester B. Grant, a mine superintendent in South America, and a brother Dr. W. W. Grant, of Denver.

Governor John F. Shafroth tonight declared that he would offer Mrs. Grant the use of the state capitol where the body of the former executive shall lie in state if the family desire.

"In the passing of ex-Governor Grant," said Governor Shafroth, "Colorado loses a man who has done much for the state. He was always in the fore when great business interests were at stake and was the model type of the mountaineer—one who developed latent possibilities wherever he found them."

Taft Visits Washington a Few Minutes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—President Taft got back to Washington tonight after an absence of more than two months. His stay in the capital was brief, however, for just two hours after he concluded his "sawing" of nearly 15,000 miles by alighting at Union station, he was aboard his special train again bound for New York where early tomorrow he will embark on the Mayflower to review the great battleship fleet now assembled in New York harbor.

It was just 11 days ago that the special session of congress came to an end and that Mr. Taft left for Beverly and the summer white house by way of Rochester, N. Y., where he attended the annual Grand Army of the Republic encampment.

Mr. Taft came to Washington by special train from Morgantown, W. Va., where he participated in the inauguration of Thomas Hodges, president of the University of West Virginia.

Mr. Taft made several speeches during the day. At Morgantown he spoke to several thousand school children and later repeated his peace and arbitration address to the students of the university.

From New York Mr. Taft goes to Hot Springs, Va., for a four days rest and then he will "take the road" again for a trip to Cincinnati and several cities in Kentucky and Tennessee. As now planned this trip will end at Washington, November 12.

SPRINGS MURDERER AT WORK IN 105'?

MOUNT PLEASANT, Ia., Nov. 1.—Circumstances similar to those in recent ax murders in Colorado Springs, Colo.; Monmouth, Ill., and Ellsworth, Kan., have led the local police to believe that the same person believed to have committed those crimes was the assailant of Mrs. J. B. Jordan, found unconscious in her home here yesterday. Mrs. Jordan, a mechanic's wife, was attacked and brutally beaten about the head with a heavy instrument. Evidently she had been left for dead. The woman had not recovered consciousness today. It is said she cannot recover. The police today instituted a search for Charles Marzyk, the ex-convict sought in connection with the Shookman murders at Ellsworth.

PROMINENT CRIMINAL LAWYER FOR RICHESON

BOSTON, Nov. 1.—After he had been formally served with the indictment charging him with poisoning his former sweetheart, Avis Linnell, the Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson was visited in Charles street jail late today by Attorney John Lee of Lynchburg, Va., a criminal lawyer prominent in the south, who probably will direct the accused minister's fight for acquittal.

SITUATION IN CHINA MUCH BETTER

Appointment of New Premier Pledge to Foreshadow Early Peace

PEKIN, Nov. 2.—The war office has received a report that the imperialists have captured Hankow and massacred the population.

PEKIN, Nov. 1.—The appointment of Yuan Shi Kai today as premier of China will be followed by a cessation of hostilities at the port of the imperialists and the resumption of negotiations with General Hsiang Heng, leader of the republicans at Hankow.

An imperialist official, who is an important administrator, also accepts the resignation of the minister, but until Yuan Shi Kai returns to Peking Prince Ching will continue to perform the duties of premier and the present cabinet will remain in office.

All the ministers attended a secret session of the cabinet assembly today which it is reported at present is agreed to the demands of the imperialists. The cabinet was organized to enter into negotiations with the troops and express the sympathy of the government.

The assembly also discussed the recent loan which was made by the government with a view to the purchase of arms and munitions. The assembly thought there was a need of prospect for the termination of hostilities and that the loan would not be necessary. It was finally decided to refer the matter by telegram to Yuan Shi Kai.

A member brought up the question of the Shanghai Treaty's failure to pay the installment of the Boxer indemnity and a minister explained that two months ago with a letter of interest, had been allowed.

People Quieter.

The panic among the people of Peking which ensued after the issuance of the first imperial edict has been largely dispelled and the newspapers are beginning to sum up the results of the 17 days' rebellion.

The Daily News considers that the appointment of Yuan Shi Kai will change the entire political complexion, restore peace, inspire the people with confidence, command the respect of foreign countries, and place the empire on a sound basis.

Reports received here today state that Yuan Shi Kai and several smaller officials in the provinces of Yun Nan, Anhui and Fukien have gone over to the revolutionists. The soldiers in North China are now slowly awaiting the action of Yuan Shi Kai.

The government troops and the Shui Si rebels are encamped not far apart. Apparently they do not intend to fight, at least for the present.

Socialist Mayor of Milwaukee Is Hooted by Women

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 1.—Mayor Seidel, the city's Socialist executive tonight addressed the National Women's Christian Temperance Union convention and told them outspokenly he did not believe in prohibition.

His remarks were greeted with cries of "No" and other words of disapproval and he was all but hooted to silence.

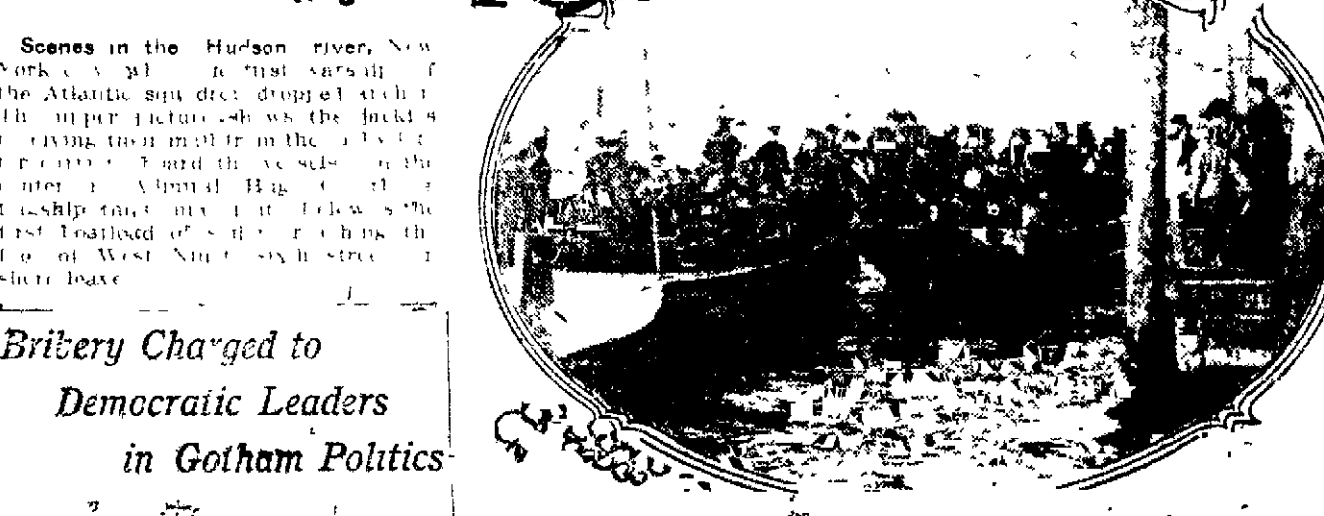

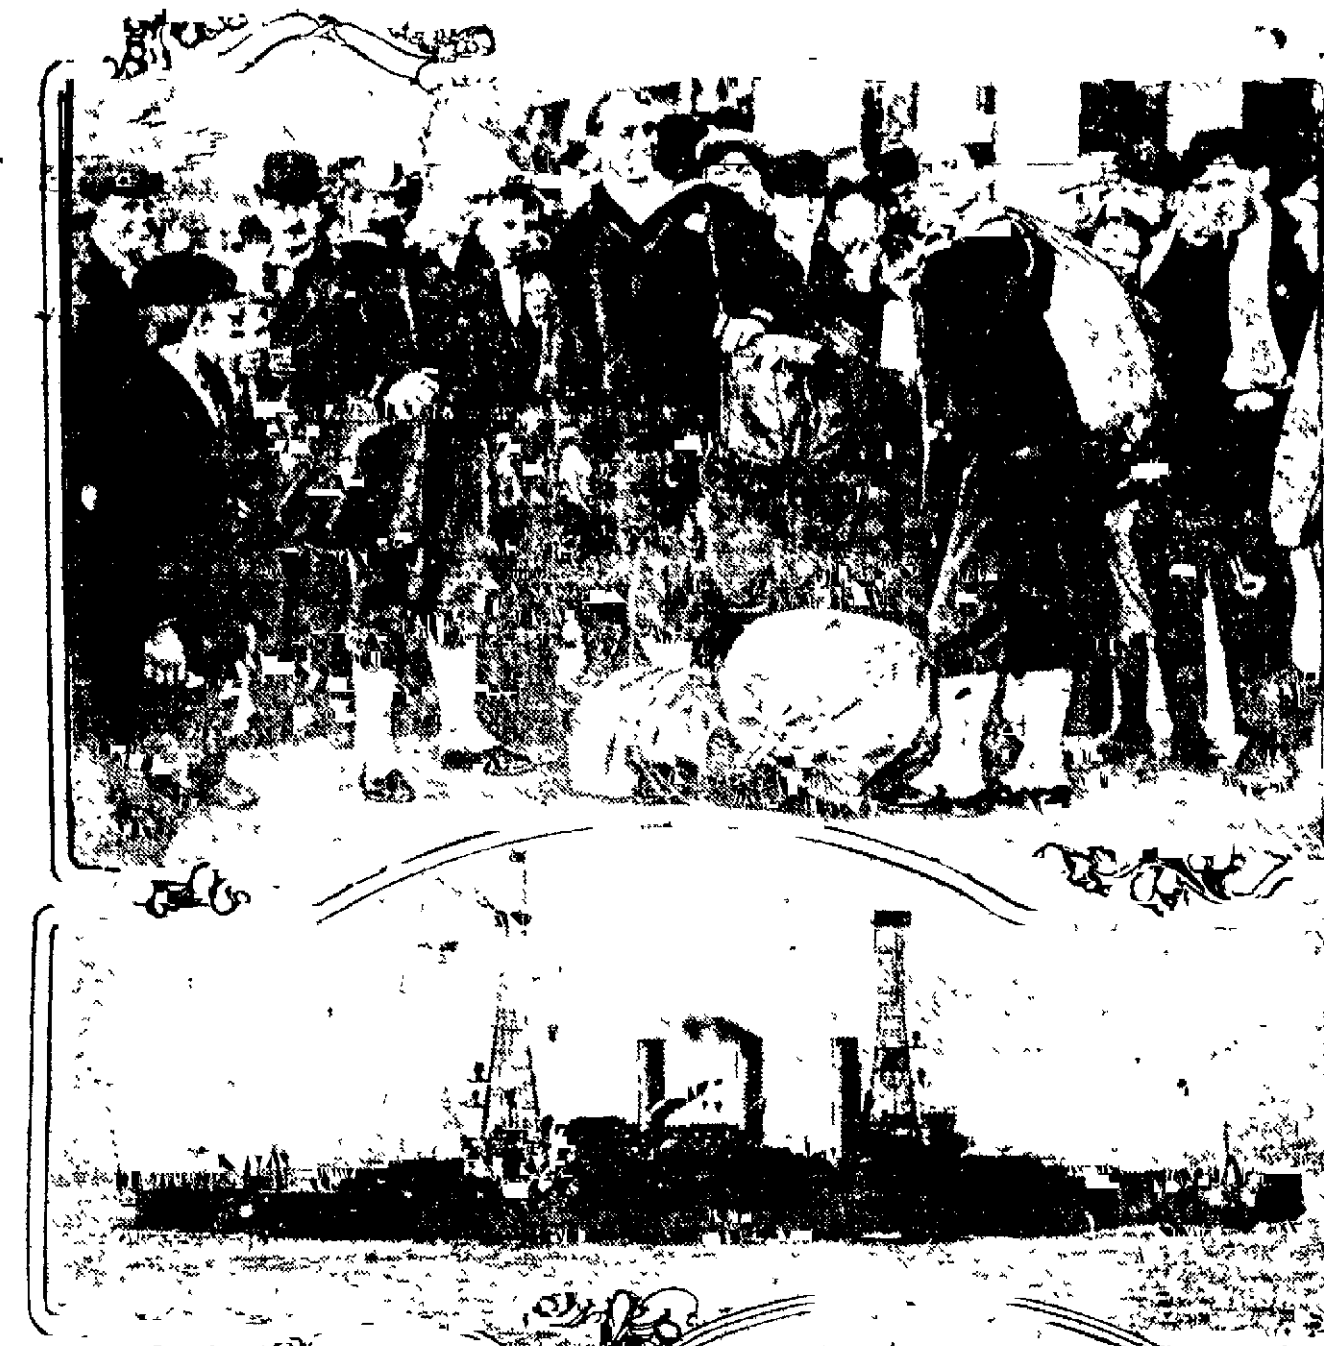

He said there were things about the city which he could not improve and that what he did not approve of might be favored by the prohibitionists. He declared he did not believe the saloon needed to be wiped out but he said he agreed with the women as to the needs of better conditions for the children of the nation.

Aside to the election of Mrs. Lillian B. Stevens as leader of the hosts of women temperance workers together with her last year's associates the feature of today's session of the national W. C. T. U. convention was a symposium on the question of equal suffrage, among the speakers being Mrs. Adrian Hungerford of Colorado, who spoke on "Enfranchisement of Women," sitting forth the benefits according to her state as equal suffrage. She said many good laws had been passed and bad ones killed.

The convention created a new department today, that of press bureau, Mrs. Minnie H. Hornung of Illinois being elected superintendent.

SONS OF TAFI AND HUGHES ARE STARS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 1.—Among the four brightest men in Harvard law school as determined by annual award of the Sears prizes, 233 each are Robert A. Taft son of the ex-senator and Charles F. Hughes, Jr., son of Justice Hughes of the United States supreme court.

Bribery Charged to Democratic Leaders in Gotham Politics

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—An information charging a conspiracy against four persons, among them the Democratic leaders of the Long Island townships of Nassau, it and a Democratic candidate for a supreme court bench, was filed today by Assistant District Attorney William A. Bradford of New York city.

The conspiracy is charged to have been formed for the purpose of securing the nomination of a Democratic candidate for the supreme court bench, and the information charges that the four persons named in the indictment conspired to secure the nomination of a Democratic candidate for the supreme court bench, and the information charges that the four persons named in the indictment conspired to secure the nomination of a Democratic candidate for the supreme court bench.

EIGHT GIRLS DIE IN FIRE

WORKMAN'S CARELESSNESS HELD TO BLAME

Chehahs, Wash., Powder Factory the Scene

CHIEF OF POLICE, Wash., Nov. 1.—Fire which destroyed the powder factory of the Imperial Powder company at Chehahs, Wash., today caused seven young women to lose their lives and an eighth, probably still in hospital. Only two girls escaped through a dozen men were present.

The dead were MILDRED, JULIE, RACHACK, SADIE, WESTALL, EVA, GILMORE, BERTHA, HADLE, ETHEL, CLARE, and MRS. ETHEL HENRY. Bertha Cronan was so severely burned that she will die.

The cause of the fire is a mystery. One report is that a pot of paraffine in the mixing room was allowed to boil over by a careless workman and that part of it ran into some powder. A flash followed and soon the whole structure was ablaze.

The girls were buried down together and owing to the rapid spread of the flames could not escape from behind a counter on which they were working. There was no explosion, the powder being of the non-explosive character usually found in a flash started the fatal fire.

Four of the company's buildings were destroyed together with equipment and many tons of manufactured powder, including a financial loss of $20,000 or more. The bodies of the girls are at the Chehahs morgue tonight but only one has been identified.

A father looked at the body of his daughter as she lay in the morgue.

THORNE CONVICTED OF MURDER SECOND TIME

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 1.—Guthrie was found guilty of the murder of a woman named Mary Ann Smith, who was killed in the city of Salt Lake City, Utah, on the 10th of September, 1911.

NO PROGRESS TOWARD JURY

Real Estate Dealer Seems to Think McNamara Trial Is a Joke

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—With 13 months to a day elapsed since 21 persons lost their lives in an explosion and a fire which wrecked the Los Angeles Times hardly the beginning of a jury had been obtained in the trial of James B. McNamara, accused of having caused the death of Charles J. Hagerty, one of the victims. Counsel for the state estimated that two months hence a jury may have been obtained.

Today's results in that direction were exactly nothing at all, so far as obtaining additional talemens accepted for cause was concerned. At the beginning of the session District Attorney J. D. Fredricks withdrew opposition to a challenge by the defense against another who, it is nearly certain, will not reach the jury. Occupied most of the day, and two others were released just before the close of court, one by consent of opposing counsel and the other because of opposition to the death penalty.

The nine talemens who had been accepted as to cause when court opened had not increased their number at the close of the session. Of these, perhaps two or three will be on the list as it is sworn.

Top talemens were selected for examination out of a new venire—the third thus far—of 49 men summoned yesterday. One of these, Jesse R. Townsend, was the man excused because of his opposition to capital punishment.

John F. Groves, a real estate dealer, told of having heard the Times explosion and seen from the windows of his residence the burning of the building. He said he knew Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, proprietor of the Times. Harry (handler) General Otis' son-in-law and several other men interested in the case. While he told of how the son of the explosion started and how the fire spread, he said he was not connected with the case.

WOMAN KILLS NINE WITH POISON

Chicago Police, Investigating Causes of Deaths, Incline to This Theory

LEARN SIGNIFICANT FACTS

Husbands, Children and Sweethearts Make Up List of Alleged Victims

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Chicago police today pursued their investigation into the deaths of nearly half a score of relatives and acquaintances of Mrs. Louise Vermilya to make certain whether the similar deaths constituted only a remarkable series of coincidences as Mrs. Vermilya asserts.

Nine deaths are included in the long list with which Mrs. Vermilya's name has been connected, including two husbands, two stepchildren, three children and two roomers at boarding houses she kept.

Pending the report of the toxicologists who are examining the viscera of the last of the persons whose deaths have occurred, beneath Mrs. Vermilya's roof, the police have made no arrests. No positive evidence of crime has been uncovered. From letters received by the police and from separate investigations the following new facts became known today.

That while Mrs. Vermilya has said one of the members of the death roster Richard T. Smith, a conductor, was only a boarder at her home, a former roomer asserts the two claimed previously to have been married and that they lived together as husband and wife.

That while the woman told the police she had assisted an undertaker at Cedar lake in embalming bodies, the undertaker there denies she ever had any such experience. She gave this as a reason why she could discuss the deaths with composure.

That R. N. Bruntston, a photographer of Peoria, and brother-in-law of Conductor Smith, had made love to the widow after Smith's death as well as to investigate the suspicious he then had about his relative's demise. That the widow had told Bruntston part of her matrimonial history which he decried as a lie to the coroner.

That Smith died during convulsions after drinking some substance, whether medicine or not, being uncertain. But the physicians gave the cause of death from description of symptoms given by the widow as acute gastritis.

Photographer Bruntston's story relating to the confidential talks he had with the widow while he was courting her was expected to develop new interest. In a talk with the police of Peoria, he said Mrs. Vermilya had periods of mental depression in which she was fond of talking of death and the many visits it had made to those near and dear to her. He said to the police:

"She told me that it seemed strange that nearly everyone she knew and cared of died."

A new coincidence developed today following the sudden illness of Mrs. Vermilya herself when a sister living in the house adjoining Mrs. Mary Buchholz, suddenly became ill. Mrs. Vermilya told inquirers today she had never studied medicine or sought to become a nurse, as had been reported, but that she had some little knowledge.

Election in Los Angeles Depends on Women's Vote

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—Official complete return from yesterday's primary election showed the failure of the Socialist to capture the majority by a majority vote and this obviates the necessity of going before the people again on December 5 at the regular election.

Mayor George Alexander, "good government" nominee, and Job Harriman, Socialist, will compete in a two-man contest for the office in December.

These returns show the primary vote to have been as follows:

Harriman 20,137, Alexander, 18,790, Muelst 1,168, Gregory, 327, Becker, 29. Harriman's plurality was 3,367. His vote fell short of 4,188 of a majority over all, which was necessary for election.

All of the Socialist candidates for the city council and all except two for the board of education will have their names on the regular ticket. The Socialist candidates for city auditor and city assessor will have to contest with the opposition at the regular polls. It seems certain from returns now in that John W. Shenck, the candidate for the city government organization for city clerk, received a majority and is the only man on any ticket to have a final victory in the primary.

The question that is "cutting all facts is what will the women do?" There are now approximately 25,000 women registered in Los Angeles and by November 4, when registration closes for the fall sex it is believed at least 10,000 will have affixed their names to the poll books.

Two Killed, One Hurt, When Hunter Fires at a Noise

MAYS LANDING N. J., Nov. 1.—Eager to have a shot at a deer which he supposed was coming down an unused road in the gloom of the early dawn today, Charles Norcross of Iowa, N. J., fired into a party of four other hunters, killing two and seriously wounding a third.

The dead are: CONRAD STEBLMAN, 28 years old, of Pleasantville, N. J.; JOHN YOST, 32, of Pleasantville; and the injured, William Jarvis, Pleasantville.

Norcross is in jail here awaiting the action of the court.

According to Norcross' statement, he was standing behind some underbrush at the side of a road when he heard a noise. Believing the sound came from a deer walking down the road, Norcross says he fired one barrel of his shotgun in the direction of the noise. He could lower his gun before he was struck and jumping out of the underbrush he was horrified to see three men lying in the road.

FLEET READY

(Continued from Page One.) Besides the congressmen and other prominent guests, aboard the Mayflower this afternoon, attaches of four foreign legations were present. They were Captain C. E. G. Staver of England, Commander Ritzmann of Germany, Commander Tokura Higurashi of Japan and Commander Vassiloff of Russia. There were also present Senators Root and Otis of New York, Mayor Bowers, Attorney General Wickham, Secretary of the Interior Fisher and others.

Two, all-wooded destroyers, painted green, patrolled the course during the inspection, and there was no unkind incident throughout.

About 200,000 persons witnessed the spectacle from the New York shore and other thousands on the water.

It was announced early in the day that all the fleet would not enter the harbor as he passed along the line, but these arrangements were changed as the inspection progressed. The ships did not dress in rainbow colors, as had been expected, but received this honor for the president.

Great Review on Pacific. LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 1.—The rear of the big naval guns announced today the result of the Pacific fleet's completion of the big display of the Atlantic fleet on the other side of the continent. The fleet of 24 ships in all with two submarines, arrived off Los Angeles harbor before dawn, and when the mists lifted, daylight revealed one of the greatest aggregations of warships ever assembled on the Pacific.

The great sea fighters stretched from a point opposite San Pedro to Long Beach, seven miles away. Consistently in the morning, arriving the was the famous old warrior Oregon, refurnished and given a family resemblance to her younger sisters by the big military mast arising above her after turret.

The Oregon is the only real battleship—heavily armed and armored among all the battleships, and the old ship was the center of interest for the party of guests invited by Secretary of the Navy Meyer to accompany Admiral Thomas on his tour of review. The reviewing vessel was the little submarine Vicksburg.

After leaving the fleet off San Diego, Admiral Thomas transferred command of the fleet temporarily to Rear Admiral Southard.

At 12:45 o'clock the review began. The fleet was maneuvered into four lines, forming a parallelogram, the four corners of which were marked by the cruiser Agassiz, flagship of the second division, the destroyer Albatross, the submarine Pike and the submarine Growler.

Thousands of people lined the harbor and lined the shore when the first salute was fired. The review had begun. Every ship was dressed. Flares broke out everywhere and there was a continuous roar of ordnance as the little Vicksburg steamed up and down the steel-walled lines of warships.

The Vicksburg passed first abreast of the Whipple and the destroyers rapid-fire weapons barked out the first salute of 13 guns. Next in line were the destroyers Truxton, Hopkins and Hull, the torpedo boat Rowan and the submarine Growler, which later, after the formalities of the review had been concluded performed in company the Pike aquatic feats, which the official guests likened to the frolicsome antics of porpoises. They dived and sped around under water like great fish and sent shivers down the spines of watchers by appearing suddenly on one side of the Vicksburg, then vanishing and appearing on the other.

The second line was made up of Admiral Thomas' flagship California, the cruisers South Dakota, Maryland and Colorado, the transport Buffalo and the supply ship Glacier. The Oregon was the second ship in the third line, coming next to the West Virginia.

VISITING RAILWAY MEN SHOWN THROUGH MANY LOCAL SCENIC POINTS

In spite of the seeming displeasure of the weather man, the railroad advertising men spent a most delightful day in Colorado's out-of-doors yesterday. Automobile trips and carriage drives had been planned for the day, and the program was only slightly changed.

The first objective point of the morning's drive was Palmer park, and after a trip over the roads in this park, the party was taken to Glen Eyrie and to the Garden of the Gods, where the members were conveyed over the new trails near the Gateway and shown the proposed drives which will make more accessible the famous wonder spot. The drive was then continued to Broadmoor and Stratton park, where a tally-ho was in waiting for the party.

Through South Cheyenne canon the members were taken to the Seven Falls. After a trip to the top of the canon, a lunch was eaten by Messrs. J. R. Young and C. D. Weiner, the hosts. After the return through the canon the party was taken for a short distance up North Cheyenne canon, it being found necessary to leave out the trip over the High Drive.

Today is "Manitou day." Following the Crystal Park trip, which will start from the Antlers hotel at 9 o'clock, the visitors will be entertained at luncheon in Manitou by the Manitou Springs Hot Iron club. The afternoon's program will include trips over the Mt. Manitou Scenic incline through Williams canon to the Cave of the Winds and the Cliff Dwellers ruins. For tomorrow, an automobile trip through the Pass to Florissant is planned, and Saturday has been set aside for the Canyon City trip, with luncheon at the top of the Royal Gorge.

Those making the trip with the visitors yesterday were: D. V. Donaldson, Leonard E. Curtis, Dr. A. C. Macgruder, Ralph O. Giddings, J. R. Young and Mrs. A. W. Henderson.

POSTOFFICE EXAMS ON

Only nine of the class of 15 applicants took the civil service examination for clerks and carriers yesterday at the postoffice. It is expected that the class today will number 15. The results of the examinations will not be learned for a month or so, since all papers must be sent to Washington and there graded. Because of the number of examination papers which must be run over, some time will elapse before the reports are issued.

COAST WOMEN LOOK INTO CURRENCY PLAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1.—California's newly enfranchised feminine voters are taking their duties of citizenship very seriously. They are not overlooking even the proposed reorganization of the country's financial system under the Aldrich plan. When the subcommittee of the national monetary commission, headed by Vice Chairman Edward Vreeland, today began its sittings here, two of the state's suffrage leaders, Mrs. Mary Damare, president, and Miss Helen Moore, organizer of the State Equal Suffrage league, attended a portion of the session.

"We came to learn about this financial question," said Mrs. Damare. "It is one with which every voter should become acquainted."

The committee questioned seven representatives, business men of the city as in their claws on the Aldrich plan for the regulation of banking and currency in the United States. Frank R. Anderson, president of the Bank of California, was the only one of the seven to offer criticism.

WORLD'S SERIES LEADS TO CRIMINAL CHARGE

The testimony showed that Gillespie personally had urged several members of the fourth sixth general assembly to vote for the Chicago man.

Peeling the Face

(From Modern Housekeeping)

Women are beginning to realize how dangerous and how unnecessary is the painful and expensive surgical operation known as face-peeling. Many clever society women noted for their exquisite beauty, accomplish the desired result themselves at home, with perfect safety and no pain, expense or detention indoors. They simply use ordinary mercurized wax, which can be obtained at almost any drug store. It is applied at night like cold cream and washed off in the morning. The mercurized wax slowly absorbs the half-dead outer skin, causing it to flake off day by day in fine, almost imperceptible particles like dust. The fresh, vigorous, young skin underneath soon shows forth, blooming radiantly with youth and beauty. The face begins to look years younger, though the use of the process absolutely defies detection by the closest observer.

Civic League Request.

October 31, 1911.

To the Honorable Mayor and Commissioners of the City of Colorado Springs.

Gentlemen:—The members of the executive board of the Civic league do hereby petition your honorable body as follows:

First: That you provide the sum of $2,000 for the employment of a city architect who shall develop a practical and comprehensive plan to make our city both in outward aspect and in its practical workings more harmonious, beautiful and systematic.

Second: That you provide the sum of $1,000 dollars for a playground, which shall be supplied with various apparatus for games and physical education, and be under the supervision of a competent physical director.

Third: That you provide a sum of money, the amount be left to your discretion, that would be ample to provide for the construction of a satisfactory public comfort station.

City Architect.

In the matter of the city architect, we are but emphasizing more urgent what we have held from the beginning of our organization to be most important in our civic development.

In securing such a plan, a better and greater Colorado Springs will arise in the shortest time and at the lowest cost because the working toward a definite plan, eliminating much expense, material and attendant costs.

The bringing of such a plan to the notice of the voting citizens for their approval or disapproval would awaken an intelligence and interest in what makes for the common betterment as nothing else would.

The acceptance of such a plan would give birth to a civic pride such as has never been felt in this community. Enthusiasm would be sustained by watching the development of the plan from month to month and year to year.

In addition, the very pertinent fact was brought out many times by men who have labored on this subject in this city recently, that property values have increased very materially and quite out of proportion to the increase in taxes where such plans have been adopted and carried out.

Regarding the interest for a public playground, the Stratton estate has demonstrated the attractiveness and the patronage of such an expenditure. The city has ample space for many such playgrounds. The importance of supervised play to both the physical and moral health of the children and youth of this city cannot be overestimated.

The residents on both sides of Mountain Valley park have been waiting patiently for a beautiful open space to be equipped for use, where their children can have clean, wholesome and safe outdoor training and amusement.

We urge this expenditure by the city as a beginning toward providing something other than punishment for better citizenship of its youth.

Public Comfort Station.

The lack of a public comfort station has been increasingly felt. It seems incredible that a city, attracting and retaining so many visitors should have provided nothing more adequate than the two small cabins in North park.

The discomfort and inconvenience incurred by such lack of forethought cannot be easily forgotten.

We respectfully desire that in the coming year you make provision for this most indispensable convenience, with thoroughly modern equipment.

Thanking you for the courtesy of your attention, we remain, yours very respectfully,

THE EXECUTIVE BOARD OF THE CIVIC LEAGUE.

By SUSAN H. C. GRAY, Acting President.

CAROLINE E. SPEER, Secretary.

CASCARETS FOR A SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Gently but Thoroughly Cleanse and Regulate Your Stomach, Liver and Bowels While You Sleep.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases, that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means indigestion; a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated, until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

They Cascarets; they cure indigestion, because they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested, take-forming food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended forever. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children—their little bodies need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

THE AMATO RECITAL

By H. HOWARD BROWN.

Pasquale Amato, principal baritone of the Metropolitan opera house, and without doubt the greatest baritone on the stage today, opened the season for the Colorado Springs Musical club at the Opera house last night. Signor Amato had to assist him Miss Longari, soprano, and Signor Tanara, Italian conductor of the Metropolitan, as accompanist. Season before last the club had a boomlet which began with the Mische-Elman concert, and the boomlet has grown steadily, until now it is larger than either those of La Follette or Champ Clark. An unprecedented mark has been reached in the sale of $50 season tickets for this course, and 350 for the supplementary course.

The effect of the inspiration of a crowded house was apparent for all three performers outdid themselves in their efforts to obtain their finest effects.

Those who expected to hear a strictly operatic program of Italian numbers were agreeably surprised, for we received in addition to the opera numbers, ancient and modern French and Italian songs, and leader of Schubert, Jensen and Tchaikovsky.

Signor Amato's attainments extend beyond the limitations of the opera, for he is a sincere and thoughtful artist, and announces that the next time we hear him, he will sing to us in the vernacular.

He has great faith in English as a means of expression when it is correctly pronounced and distinctly enunciated, and intends to send his two sons to an American college.

Amato's voice is one of beautiful quality, great depth and power, coupled with immense possibility of emotional expression. He uses it well, and its range is even throughout. His singing is musically and free from affectation, and his mellow voice is entrancing in effect and charmingly used. His manly carriage and the noble sonority of his voice are the expression of a dignified and lofty artistic temperament.

Aroused Great Enthusiasm

Signor Amato aroused great enthusiasm with good but some of his most beautiful phrases were sung in Mascagni's "Elegie." He gave a splendid and humorous rendering of "Largo al Fiedotum," and repeated it for encore. In addition to having a wonderful voice which he controls perfectly, he imparts a vivid, emotional color to everything that he sings. He is to be praised for giving the German group, although there were occasional errors in phrasing, and the pronunciation might have been better.

In spite of the sharp contrast between the temperature in California where they sang last week and here, both singers were in fine voice, and there was only a trace of hoarseness, occasionally in some of Signor Amato's light tones.

Miss Longari, in private life Miss Tataru, sang the "Maiden Butterfly," a duet of songs and a duet with Signor Amato. She sang with taste and fine temperament and imagination, and her art was excellent, both vocally and dramatically. She really gave an impersonation of a butterfly. Her last number was a duet, although her attack is sometimes poor, and the quality of her voice slightly palled. She is a clever and pleasing artist. How ever. In the dust her voice was not strictly true to pitch. Her encore after the song group was delicately given. Signor Tanara was a host, and furnished a whole orchestral background for the singers. A better accompanist never has played here. It would be impossible to praise him too highly. The whole concert was one of dignity, musicianship, and was enhanced by the attractive personalities of the artists. Miss Longari's picturesque gown lent a touch of color to the scene.

Every seat was sold and for once the bad weather did not keep the people from attending, and there was great enthusiasm. The club is to be congratulated upon such a fine opening concert, and the next one will be eagerly looked for.

THE DAY'S NEWS IN SPORT CIRCLES

FOOTLIGHTS WILL ATTRACT SEVERAL BASEBALL STARS

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Two hours a day rehearsals for all of last week was the order for Jack Coombs, conqueror of Mathewson, "Chief" Bender and Cy Morgan of the Athletics, for their vaudeville act. Kathryn Pearl and Violet Pearl, who will head the act, have been rehearsing with the ball players, and a strong turn seems assured. Morgan, known as the "Miserable Man" of baseball, is a veteran of both the stage and the diamond. During the team's trip away from Philadelphia he spent many hours with Bender and Coombs fitting them for their parts. Coombs has developed unexpected stage ability, while Bender's chief stock in trade, so far, has been his famous smile. However, Morgan believes Bender will yet make an actor.

The advent into vaudeville of the ball players is a compliment to the judgment of John E. Robinson, who put them under contract months ago, when Detroit was apparently making a runaway of the American league race. Robinson has instructed Wilton to ask $2,500 a week for the act. The demand seems to justify this price.

Robinson is also extremely sanguine of obtaining a world of publicity for his act. He has instructed Wilton to take all the "bets" offered by house managers on this end of the game. Robinson's proposition is a suit of clothes that the Pearl-Coombs, Bender-Morgan act will receive more publicity each week than all the rest of the bill put together, and he bars nobody in the make-up of supporting bill. His wide newspaper acquaintance in every city guarantees him the winning of his wagers.

"Rube" Marquard, the Giants' second star, is still hopeful of scoring a hit on the stage. Marquard's managers point out that a little break in the luck turned the game against him, just as Wilton says a little break in the luck turned the first game against Bender.

The Rube has a monologue written by Will F. Kirk, the New York jingle writer, and ought to go big, if only on his work this year on the National league circuit.

Besides "Rube" will have the assistance of a chorus of 20 beauties in putting his act over. It's called Marquard's $11,000 beauties. He is booked for Cleveland, his home town, soon.

Up in New England four of the Boston Red Sox have formed a quartette. They will be booked over the better class of New England theaters. McHale, "Buck" O'Brien, the wonder-ful young pitcher, Third Baseman Larry Gardner and First Baseman Bradley are the songsters. Those who have heard them are of the opinion that the quartet will be a decided hit on its excellent singing, aside from the members' baseball fame. They are making $500 a week, and will probably have no trouble in getting booked. Gus Edwards has a scheme for an all-star big league vaudeville troupe. He held a conference with Robinson in Boston last week with the idea of recruiting 16 baseball players to form the combination. The idea being to head the troupe with Robinson's friend of Athletics, Robinson, however, wanted the lion's share of the money for his men, explaining he had a sliding scale agreement with Coombs, Bender and Morgan. The scheme forthwith went skullduggery.

Mathewson so far has refused vaudeville offers.

Charlie Doolin, manager of the Phillies, and his stage partner, Jim McCool, are due to open in two weeks on the United Booking office circuits.

After Monday's game in Philly, Kirk got to work on the Marquard monologue again, fixing it up somewhat to correspond with Marquard's reports of the game when Baker tapped his straight ball for a homer.

Frank Baker could have gone into vaudeville and been billed as "The Home Run Kid" after the tussle at the Polo grounds, when he swatted one into right field in the ninth, tying the game. But Baker has a farm and family down Maryland way, and he'll stick there over the winter.

There were bids in some time ago for the Pittsburgh $22,000 wonder, Marty O'Toole, but O'Toole hasn't had the opportunities for workouts since joining the Pirates that will bring him into competition with world series champs.

Chief Meyers of the Giants still has the acting bee and likes the coin it gathers in.

Tracy Cobb and Joe Jackson will tread the boards as "Legits." The two Dixie batting demons have the distinction of being the first baseball players to break into the theatrical game, as "legitimate." They will be co-stars in a revamped version of "The College Widow."

Napoleon Lajoie, it is understood, will also make his debut in vaudeville this season.

"Georgie" Schaefer, who gained most of his diamond popularity with Hughes' Jennings' Tigers, is being groomed for a sketch with Grace Belmont, 10 weeks being offered them.

Out in Chicago, Joe Tinker, the Cubs' prize shortstopper, is being lined up for a Sullivan-Conline tour, while "Doc" White, the White Sox twirler, another player who has had stage experience (debuting last fall) will once more seek vaudeville honors with the monologues. Klug Cole, of the same team, will work around Chicago, with Jules Von Tiller likely for a partner.

It is not unlikely that Mike Donlin will be back in the limelight. Last week he heard them are of the opinion that the quartet will be a decided hit on its excellent singing, aside from the members' baseball fame. They are

Mrs. Edna Valentino Hein and Norman E. Selby, otherwise known in the pugilistic world as "Kid" McCoy. The "Kid" has announced in New York that Mrs. Hein, who is a divorcee, will be Mrs. Selby Nov. 8. There is a rumor behind the engagement of the couple. McCoy was named as a correspondent in the cross bill filed by Mrs. Hein, who was vice consul in New York city for Honduras. The case was on trial last April and Mrs. Hein received her decree. Since then McCoy has been marked in his attentions to Mrs. Hein. Recently McCoy remarked to his friends that he was to be married to Mrs. Hein within the next few weeks and take his bride abroad. McCoy has been married seven times. He can repeat the marriage service by heart.

STATE WORKS HARD FOR TIGER CONTEST

BOULDER, Colo., Nov. 1.—Whatever may be the attitude of the people over the state in regard to the coming football game between the Tigers and Colorado, there are two rival camps lined up in different parts of the state anxiously awaiting the referee's whistle to start the huculic contest scheduled for Saturday afternoon on the local gridiron. Here at Boulder the cry of coach and team, echoed back by the student body, is "Beat the Tigers." At the Springs, on the other hand, the cry is, "Don't let the Silver and Gold score." This fact in itself would insure a fierce game with only mediocre eleven, but with two such aggregations lined up against each other as the gods will look down on the last of this week, the people interested in the fall national sport may well center their eyes on their own state and postpone thinking of eastern games until Sunday morning. By that time the game will have been played and the question of supremacy between Coach Rothgeb's eleven and the warriors trained by Coach Folsom will be decided at least for this year. But as long as "Hops" springs eternal in the human breast, the same fans who watch Saturday's game will look forward to next season for what will then be called the greatest game in the state, but without the attractions, McFadden and Vandemost, in the lineup, for both men graduate this year.

Truly afternoon, Coach Folsom watched every move of the first team while Coach Castleman lined the second eleven in formidable array and called attention to their glaring defects. Secret practice was held between the two squads and will continue in all probability until Friday afternoon. By that time many of the most prominent errors and mistakes shown in Saturday's game against Wyoming will be remedied or smoothed over so that they will not be the most conspicuous feature of the coming game.

Special attention is being paid by both coaches to the fumbling which was noticeable in the last contest, and to tackling. Realizing the possibility of the fleet halfback of the Tigers getting away for a yard of his long and runs, Coach Folsom is perfecting a defense that will hold him as effectively as was Captain Jones was in the case of Wyoming, who was touted to beat off "long-horn" after "touch-down." With a formation to block Vandy, the game is considered half won, with an excellent chance for the other portion.

Hard practice will continue from now until Friday, when the men will lay off until the whistle calls them Saturday.

REDS AFTER MANAGER

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—President Murphy of the Chicago baseball team left for Cincinnati tonight, and it is reported he will confer with President Herrman in regard to trading one of his players to aid as manager of the Cincinnati team next year. It is said that Herrmann is desirous of obtaining the services of either Johnny Evers or Joe Tinker as manager.

JOHNNY CROSS, POLO PLAYER, IS KILLED

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Nov. 1.—John Cross, a polo player of wide prominence, fell with his pony while engaged in a game yesterday and suffered injuries that resulted in his death today.

"COMEBACKS" TO BE NUMEROUS IN 1912

"Comebacks" will be as numerous in the big league training camps next spring as men around Cleveland will did not think Johnny Kilbane had the punch. Not a few comebacks of the class of Tom Hughes and Jimmy Callahan, but youngsters and semi-vets who were up before and who failed to make good because of inexperience or accidents. Their return to the minors did not mean that they did not have the stuff in them. In the latter case, it simply meant that they were not quite ripe for the fastest company.

A permit may be a star in the minor leagues, but fail to know many of the things which are required of players in the major circuits. Again, he may develop a lame arm or suffer some other mishap on the training field in his eager desire to show his manager that he is really the goods.

Consequently he goes back to develop. Well, there were many such men pulled back by the draft or released during the last few weeks. Collected, a bunch of them, seven of them in fact. Catcher O'Neil of Worcester was an athletic recruit, as was Pitcher Colorado of Scranton, and utility player Baseman of New Orleans has been a member of the Athletics. York Glantz as well as the Athletics, Outfielder Williams was with the Browns last spring, while Catcher Kenrick of Dayton was given a trial by Cincinnati. Third Baseman Bunting of Worcester was taken south by Brooklyn last spring.

Dubois of Montreal, who was with Cincinnati for a season, was sent to a pair in Pittsburgh, and a pair in Washington, and Third Baseman Roth, who was tried out by the Athletics and Naps. The Browns will try out Pitcher Brown of Akron, who was a Cincinnati recruit a year ago, Washington's "Red" First Baseman Flynn, late of Pittsburgh, Shortstop Foster, formerly a Yankee, and Outfielder Moeller, once with the Pirates.

Outfielder Beal of Denver, bought by Boston, was given a trial two years ago by Comiskey, while of New York's recruits Outfielder Osborne, McConnell and Scutellars have all been in the zone. Frankie of Toledo is a good Mack's only recruit who has been tried by some other big league club.

There are more comeback recruits in the National league, the list being headed by Otto Hoss, bought by Boston. The Athletics have also checked First Baseman Houser of Philadelphia, who used to be Harry Davis' understudy.

PONIES MAKE FAST TIME

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 1.—Country Jay set a new world's record for 15-year-old trotters by making the mile in 2:04.2 at the Breeder's meeting here today.

Present Queen Sachtrich also established a record for yearling pacing fillies, going the mile in 2:20.4.

Season's records were made by Bellwin McKinney for yearling trotters at 2:13.4, Pearl-Ongale for 2-year-old fillies at 2:15.1, and Junion Wams for 2-year-old trotting stallions at 2:16.2.

AMERICAN TENNIS TEAM SAILS FOR NEW ZEALAND

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 1.—The American tennis team, which will compete for the Davis world championship, ship can sail for Australia today. The team is headed by W. L. Rafter, United States champion, and J. H. Whitely and M. J. Moran, who will be coached by Christ Church, New Zealand.

FOLSOM MAY LEAVE PLACE AT BOULDER

BOULDER, Nov. 1.—That this will be the last year of "Folsomism" at the University of Colorado is the apparently well-founded report that is being circulated here. It is understood that after this season Coach Folsom will not have charge of the university squad. His place is being growing rapidly and is getting so large that he has no time to give to football. Folsom has been a success as a football coach and has won a Colorado championship some of the best teams that he has ever had. The fact that this is likely to be his last season in charge of the team makes the Silver and Gold eleven all the more determined to whip Colorado's college next Saturday. Folsom's men are loyal to their coach and want to make his last season the most successful that he has had.

SAM LANGFORD TO MEET AUSTRALIAN HEAVIES

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Nov. 1.—Sam Langford, the famous pugilist, who is coming here from Boston to Australia to meet the heavyweights fighters in this country, today visited on the Australian liner Zeppelina, which had been held an hour for him.

THIS MAN HAD A SENSE OF JUSTICE

From the American Magazine.
There was a pretty thing happened on the Polo grounds in 1908, when the New York and Chicago teams met to play off their tie for the pennant. Perhaps the maddest, wildest, most frenzied fan in all that host of violent partisans was a well-known actor. This actor secured part of a seat in the press box and during the early stages of the struggle he raved and raged. He shouted, howled, almost wept. Reporters turned at his legs and swore wildly at him. He walked on their hands and danced on telegraph instruments, seeing only the players. Behind him hundreds of men were raving, all but as wildly. Chicago was leading, but in the middle of the game the Giants had runners on second and third, one man out and a base hit meant a tied score, perhaps victory and the pennant. The crowd went insane and the actor made the ravings of John McCullough sound like the prattle of an infant. The batter swung and a weak foul fly floated back toward the stand. Kling trotted back and stood, face to the stand, waiting for the ball. In that instant some wild person hurled a pop bottle full of champagne at the actor. The actor was other object at Kling's head. The bottle whistled past his face, the other object grazed his arm. The ball dropped into Kling's hands.

The moment the bottle was thrown a roar of anger and a storm of hisses swept the stand. The actor, leaping on the desk screamed, facing the

Just for that I hope New York loses.

TAFT, THE JUDICIAL PRESIDENT

THE critics of President Taft agree that he is congenial and able and patient and honorable and courageous. They do not maintain that these qualities are not valuable, but they do maintain that they are not all-sufficient.

President Taft is not a leader. He does not take the initiative. He does not outline policies for the future; he defends actions that are past. He is not a constructive statesman. His mind is receptive, not aggressive, in its attitude; it is judicial rather than executive.

The President came into public life "by the side door" after half a lifetime spent on the bench and in appointive offices. During his present term of office he has maintained the attitude of a judge presiding over a court. The editor of Success magazine has pointed out that it is possible to read consistency into the acts of Taft's administration only by considering them as decisions of a judge and not the policy of an executive.

Instead of taking a definite and stable position on numerous public questions Judge Taft did not take action until two disputants brought the case in dispute before his executive court. Thus, he has rendered decisions in the cases of Pinchot vs. Hallinger, Aldrich (in re the tariff) vs. the People, Wilson, Wickersham et al vs. Wiley, etc. He mandated Congress on Canadian Reciprocity; he enjoined Arizona from adopting the recall of judges; he remanded the Wool and Cotton bills for new trials, assigning lack of evidence as cause.

Judge Taft dislikes change and disturbance in any department of Government. Consequently, he extended the jurisdiction of his executive court to cover both Houses of Congress. Early in his incumbency Judge Taft found the Progressives in contempt for disturbing the peace of the court. The fine imposed was loss of federal patronage. It may be remarked in passing that the fine was paid cheerfully. However, the payment did not remove the contempt, which became mutual.

The Saturday Evening Post has pointed out another instance of the President's judicial mind in action. It says:

President Taft's Trust speech in Detroit exhibits the judicial temperament in its most discouraging state. He regards the Trust problem as virtually settled by the decisions of the Supreme Court in the oil and tobacco cases, which are "making these great combinations divide themselves into actually competing parts." The telling fact that the competition has nowhere been fostered except in paper districts him not at all. His innocent belief that the Trust problem is to be discovered in a law library rather than in the markets, and that talking to some new client on office doors conformably to a court decision quite solves the problem, exhibits the judicial temperament in its most hopelessly aspect. His attention is fixed, not upon what is but upon what a court says shall be. Evidently no progress toward a solution of the actual problem is to be expected from Mr. Taft.

A LEADER WHO DOES NOT LEAD

not President Taft is descriptive of William Howard Taft's mental outlook. Only recently he said: "I love the judges; I love the courts; they are my ideal on earth and typify what we shall meet afterward in Heaven under a just God." The shortcomings of the present administration are largely due to judicial action in non-judicial situations.

There are probably periods of political inactivity during which the judicial attitude is desirable even in a President. But the present is not such a period. We are living in a period of change, not of immobility, and one that requires political imagination rather than legal precedent for the settlement of its question. The editor of Success magazine states a widespread conviction when he says: "A Taft today is a danger spot. We need steersmen, not resistors. We need men who look forward, not back."

The renomination of President Taft would mean that a retrograde step had been taken by the Republican party.

The Progressive movement was initiated by Republicans; it originated during Roosevelt's administration. The positions taken on important questions by the Progressives have been supported by their constituencies again and again. The opponents of Progressivism have been discredited. Where a Standpat Democrat was opposed by a Progressive Republican, the Democrat was defeated. Where a Standpat Republican was opposed by a Progressive Democrat, the Democrat was elected.

"It is only as the Republican party adopts the position maintained today by the Progressives that it can live to serve the country as a party organization."

These are the words of Robert M. La Follette. They are true. The people of the country are progressive. They have shown it. They desire the opportunity of casting their votes for a President who is progressive beyond cavil.

In 1908 the voters thought that William Howard Taft was progressive. The Progressive leaders hoped that he was. No one could be sure of Taft's progressiveness because it had never been translated into acts. Acts are the final test. President Taft has given us three years of acts, judicial and unprogressive. President Taft has proven that he is not a Progressive.

La Follette is the leader of the Progressive movement. As the case stands now he has a better chance than any other man of becoming the leader and "finical head" of the Republican party.

THE NAVAL REVIEW

THE Navy Department does not indulge in the luxury of a real naval review often enough to stir the novelty of its interest to the American people. It is nearly twenty years since the famous "White Squadron" was assembled in New York harbor in the first grand review of a modern steel fighting fleet ever held in this hemisphere. Since then there have been several notable affairs of the kind, but the present review easily surpasses them all in numbers, tonnage and fighting strength. The American people were immensely proud of the White Squadron and cherished the fond delusion that it could defeat any other aggregation of warships afloat. But there is not a battleship of the super-dreadnought type today but could send the whole White Squadron to the bottom of the sea, alone and unaided, in thirty minutes. And in all probability the up-to-date ship would come out of the engagement wholly unscathed, for it could stand off at a distance of five or six miles and hammer its opponent to pieces without even being reached by the old style short range guns.

The present mobilization must indeed be an impressive sight. A fleet of 120 warships, extending in four parallel lines a distance of seven miles is a spectacle to be remembered. The number of men is greater than the entire strength of the American army which drove the Spanish out of Cuba thirteen years ago, and although the fleet does not by any means comprise the entire American navy its tonnage is several times as great as that of the navy in the Spanish-American war.

But there is another aspect to the review. Ten years from now more than half of the ships in this magnificent fleet will be in the junk heap, and in twenty years even the newest and best will be out of commission. A merchant vessel is good for thirty or forty years of active service; many of them for much more, but a warship is old at ten years and scarcely worth repairing at fifteen. The net result is that we pay $125,000,000 a year for material with which to build up junk heaps.

WHAT'S THE USE?

From the New York Tribune.
In making the new election record, which turns out not to have been a record after all, the aviator ascended till his hands were numb with cold. If he had lost control of his machine while in that state the result, of course, would have been justified by the interests of science.

WOMEN AND DIVORCE

A western woman, writing in about some recent remarks on Rome and divorce, objects that too much stress is laid on a woman's part in this disturbing industry, and asks if more should not be said about men who desert their wives. As it happens, an article discussing the runaway husband and men's sins taken to discipline him will presently appear in Voltaire. Most of the "columnists" at such a place as Rome are women, naturally, because of the two parties to a domestic disagreement it is generally the woman who can most easily go away. Their country does not necessarily imply that they are more to blame than their husbands, nor do the number of divorces today necessarily imply a decadence of our general morality. In 1870 for every 1000 persons in the United States there were 29 divorces a year. Then until 1906 the yearly average for each five-year period was 32, 35, 41, 53, 73 and 82. In 1907 for every 1,000 marriages there were 29 divorces. In 1908 there were 35.

That is to say, one marriage out of every 12 now ends in divorce. If divorce were an unmitigated evil, these figures could suggest but one conclusion: some radical weakness in American life and a dangerous tendency toward the breakdown of the family. It is extremely doubtful, to say the least, that either conclusion is justified. To a great extent increased divorce is the result of the same social and economic changes which have so shifted the position of women as "scandalous appendages" of their husbands and the home as an economic unit. Conditions which the overworked but at least mentally occupied wife in the old-fashioned home of our forefathers might have endured become today, in the comparative idleness which has come with machinery, intolerable. Moreover, women are more independent economically, socially and morally. The husband's right to command is slight. In common with the rest of the world women are more awake to injustice. The moral quality of marriages need not, therefore, have decreased in order to make possible the increase of divorce. The moral quality of the marriages may have remained the same while moral perceptions have been clarified. Strikes, graft exposures, and so on do not mean that politics and industry are worse than they used to be, but that people see more clearly and demand something better.

WHAT AILS CHINA.

From Harper's.
Newspapers are the most symptomatic evidence of the change in China's sentiments. They have sprung up like mushrooms, to the number of more than two thousand, and practically all advocate the most advanced reform measures. Their cartoons have had a great influence in fostering the anti-dynastic and anti-foreign feeling. As is well known, the Chinese are governed by the Manchus, who came into control in 1644, and who have since occupied the high offices, and who have maintained Manchurian corps, and consigned all members of the clan. Every Manchu has been either a soldier or an official, and in receipt of a pension from birth. To a Manchu in Peking was made of it, a sinologue that to be the son or nephew of an official statesman in Washington. The common cry, indeed, it was made a veritable battle cry, was that the Manchus were betraying the nation to the foreigners. The newspapers and their most avid readers, who are the students, took up the slogan of "rights recovery," for they point out that the government has lost great stretches of territory to the foreigners and has given them valuable mining and railway concessions.

Now he storm has broken. The people, sober for centuries, and now suddenly drunk with new wine, have gone upon a grand spree. But they will probably sober up. The proved strong men are on the side of the government. If the troops can be paid promptly and well they will remain loyal, for the Chinese soldier's version of the proverb, "Whose bread I eat, his song I sing," is "Whose bread I eat, his song I sing." Not only is the real leadership with the government, but the same program of reform has been adopted by it. Some of the revolutionists will learn, what Peking already knows, that the neighboring power which they most dread has been making a cat's-paw out of the Young China movement. It is not unlikely that at any day now the despots of this hostile nation upon China will openly appear, and in the face of this common danger, the revolutionists and the government will get together to save China's national integrity.

"I have a kick coming," the chronic grocer said; then bricksbats were hurled around his sore head. The pushers and boosters were tired of his game, and all these little roosters jumped onto his frame. He rolled him and churned him until full of ache, and then at last burned him alive at the stake. Perhaps they were hasty for quite a reason. But what makes him stiffer when starting a bump, than seeing some kick out coming with a kick to his objections and utter his roar, and springing a collection of boom songs before? And what can be rougher on a man's soul, than hearing some duffer, who worships his roll, object to all measures, to croakings give vent, and talk at all pleasures that cost him a cent? To you, who are spinning the Boosterville sports, because of their turning a grocer, one remedy: some method of slaughter is needed for jays who throw cold water on things all their days.

Copyright, 1911, by George Eastman & Co.

Three working girls belonging to what we are pleased to call the "middle class" of society, were discussing what they did with their money.

"Of course, I pay my board at home," said the private secretary.

"I pay four dollars a week so that's where my money goes."

One of the teachers stated that she contributed three dollars towards the family budget while another gave three and a half.

These girls are all earning good salaries. They all belong to families which made sacrifices to educate them, and which have none too easy a time to get along now. And yet, they mentioned their small contributions with an evident sense of righteousness.

Not as if it is strange after all for they know many among their circle of friends, who in similar situations do not give their fathers a cent for board, but spend all their money upon themselves, with the exception of a sprightly attire which they wear and occasionally moved to pretentious and for which they expect extravagant gratitude.

That is one picture. Now let me point another. Our washerwoman has a daughter who has been educated to the extent of the grammar school and five months in business college. She earns eight dollars a week as a stenographer. Her mother is very proud of her. She was telling me all about her.

"And she has been Miss Ruth," she said, "a fine hour that takes her to the theater, not any moving picture show, but the real theater, you know. And of course, she likes to dress and look like an account of him, so I don't take all her money away from her. I don't think that would be fair. I just take four or five dollars to help with the house and let her have the rest."

Again, a little telephone girl. She is a very good worker and gets ten dollars a week in a private exchange. Her father is lazy and is often out of work. She was telling me about a pretty waist she wanted to buy. "I'm going to ask mother if she can't manage to let me have the money for it," she said.

"What don't you buy your own clothes?" I asked, completely misunderstanding.

"What do you mean?" she counter-questioned. "Why don't you buy the waist with your own money, instead of asking your mother for it?"

She laughed good naturedly. "Because I haven't any money," she said. "I give it all to mother, and she gives me back what I need for clothes and carfare."

And she took her doing this quite as a matter of course.

One more instance: Mary is a maid. She gets five dollars a week. Last year her sister died. Mary is still paying the funeral expenses, which were about $150. Think what that means—the pay for twenty-five weeks' hard work. Incidentally, she wants to get married and is longing to save for her wedding clothes and furniture.

When you hear of, or read of, or see things like this—for you must as well as I—doesn't it seem to you that there is greater kindness, greater generosity, greater sense of family obligation in which we are pleased to call the "poorer classes" of society?

It certainly does to me.

And doesn't it make you rather ashamed of what we are pleased to call the "middle and higher classes" of society?

THE CIVIL WAR 50 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 2, 1861.

General David Hunter superseded General Fremont in command of the army in Missouri. His appointment in the culmination of dissatisfaction with General Fremont arising from the latter's conduct of the war, and a belief that General Fremont has not demonstrated sound judgment in handling questions of state obtruded upon him by the peculiarly delicate equilibrium between Union and Confederate sympathies in Missouri. His order that fugitive slaves seeking the protection of the Union army should not be returned to their owners was considered especially unwelcome in Washington.

The order discharging him from the command, and appointing General Hunter to succeed, reached Springfield at the same time with newspaper reports of the change. There was much feeling over it among the officers under him, with whom General Fremont was popular. They petitioned that he remain in secondary command under General Hunter for the ensuing night to avert any possible danger from a threatened attack by the enemy; a request in which Fremont acceded.

A federal force under Major Joseph was defeated at Platte City, Mo., by a Confederate force under Silas Gordon, with a loss of 15 killed and wounded and 30 prisoners.

The British steamer Bermuda, for Havre, with 1,800 bales of cotton, ran the blockade of Savannah and got to sea.

The Charleston Mercury threatened Union prisoners in Charleston if Confederate privateersmen, then on trial for piracy, should be punished.

Governor Harris of Tennessee called on the people of the state to bring in every double barreled shot gun and every rifle to arm troops offering their services.

General McClellan, acknowledging the presentation of a sword by the city council of Philadelphia, asserted that the war could not last long.

The Twenty-seventh Massachusetts, Col. H. C. Lee, left Springfield, Mass., for New York.

WELL-KNOWN PLAYWRIGHT MARRIED PREMATURELY

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The arrival of the Kron Prinz Wilhelm here today from Europe led to the discovery that George Randolph Chester, the author and playwright, was aboard with a young woman whom he said he had married recently in Paris. When it was pointed out to Mr. Chester that the divorce proceedings brought by his former wife had reached only the stage of an interlocutory decree signed October 12 and that the final decree could not be granted until 30 days had elapsed, he rushed in agitation to the nearest telephone and called up his lawyer. Afterward he made a statement.

"I find," he said, "that I committed no crime in marrying abroad. I married Miss Durand in Paris as soon as I got word that my wife had obtained a divorce."

The new Mrs. Chester is an artist who has illustrated many of Mr. Chester's stories. Mrs. Chester's suit named her.

SPEER GOOD SAMARITAN TO DEPOSED OFFICIALS

DENVER, Nov. 1.—All the incumbents of county offices whose functions remain undisturbed through the merger of the city and county of Denver may retain their positions until June 1. Mayor Speer intimated today that he will make no reappointments or removals.

The offices which the mayor is empowered to fill through the decision of the state supreme court are assessor, recorder, sheriff, county superintendent, three justices of the peace, two county judges, three commissioners of charities and correction and three constables.

It had been taken for granted generally that the mayor would make appointments to all offices declared vacant by the decision of the state supreme court.

The elimination of appointments will do away with the greater part of the proposed litigation which some of the county officials announced they would bring.

JOSEPH PULITZER BURIED AT GOTHAM

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The Episcopal church performed the last rites this afternoon over Joseph Pulitzer, the dead newspaper publisher. Burial was at Woodlawn cemetery. The choir of St. Thomas, where the services were held, sang the music of which Mr. Pulitzer during his life time was most fond. The mourners included so many of his former employees and personal friends that there was little room for the public.

The honorary pallbearers were: Nicholas Murray Butler, Lewis L. Clarke, Col. George P. Harvey, Frederick H. Johnson, Gen. John B. Henderson, Seth Low, St. Clair McKelway, George L. Rives, Dr. James W. McKim and J. A. Shaw.

MOSLEMS RIOTOUS

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Nov. 1.—Reports of Turkish soldiers at Tripoli were echoed here during the night in tumult that at one time threatened to be serious. The natives turned out in thousands calling upon Allah to confound "the infidels." Shots were exchanged between Moslems and Europeans. One native was killed and 14 others were wounded before the police had suppressed the rioting. Scores of arrests were made.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

November 2, 1881.

General Ben Butler expressed himself as unalterably opposed to the building of the Panama canal. He said it would be equivalent to anchoring Gibraltar off the Golden Gate.

The snowy weather of the past few days had interfered considerably with the work of the new hotel. This was the first Antlers, the construction of which had just been commenced.

There were 1,574 names on the registration lists in Colorado Springs and a large number of voters were not registered.

Auditor Richardson of the D. & R. G. reported the gross earnings of the railroad for the month of October just passed to have been $655,686.78, an increase of nearly $200,000 over the earnings of October, 1880. There were 370 miles of road in operation as against 351 in October, 1881.

The contract for the plumbing of the Printers' home, then in course of construction, was let to E. S. Burnstead & Co., of this city.

The fire department was called out twice during the night, once by a fire in David McShane's barn at Cascade avenue and McClaron street, and again by one in Balch's restaurant on South Tejon street. Both were extinguished before much damage had been done.

Seven Famous Nixles

History has always attached much importance to the Number Seven. Of all numbers there is one which commanded, in a higher degree, the esteem and reverence of mankind. The Gazette has taken this charmed number, and has woven into stories on a variety of subjects a Series of Sevens, beginning each Monday and continuing during the week.

NO. 4—MOREAU

Whatever share Moreau might have had in the conspiracy of Pichegru and Georges to overturn the first consul of France, and it is difficult to acquire him of some participation in it, there is little doubt that his military talents and his popularity were what Bonaparte most feared. He, therefore, readily gave countenance to a prosecution in which his rival was involved. When Bonaparte caused the general to be arrested, he said: "I might have made Moreau come to me, and have said to him, 'Listen, you and I cannot remain on the same soil; go, as I am the stronger,' and I believe he would have gone; but these chivalrous manners are useless in public matters."

Moreau was tried and condemned to two years' imprisonment, which, at his own request, was changed into perpetual banishment.

The United States of America were selected by Moreau for his exile and here he lived in peaceful retirement until the year 1812, when the invitation of the emperor of Russia to take up arms against his country caused him to sacrifice his honor and his life. Moreau arrived in Europe at the time that the reverses of Bonaparte had given some hopes of limiting his power. He had lost a fine army in Russia; and although he had again taken the field, yet he had to contend against the now confederated forces of Russia, Austria and Prussia. Great hopes were entertained from the military talents of Moreau as well as his known popularity with the French. Louis XVIII. gave him unlimited power respecting France, pledging his word to take no measures of internal or external policy without him and intending to give him rank of constable of France, the highest honor a sovereign could bestow.

Moreau joined the allied armies in August, 1812, and first raised his arm against that country in fighting for which he had acquired so much glory at the battle of Drosden. He was in the act of giving some opinion on military matters, while passing with the emperor of Russia behind a battery at the commencement of the engagement, when a ball struck his thigh, and almost carried off his leg, passing through the horse and shattering his other leg to pieces. He was conveyed off the field in a litter; both his legs were amputated, an operation which he bore with the utmost fortitude, smoking all the time, but a mortification took place, and he died on the 3rd of September, three days after he had received the fatal wound. In the midst of his sufferings he wrote the following affectionate letter to his wife.

"My dear love,—At the battle of Drosden three days ago I had my two legs carried off by a cannon ball. That scoundrel Bonaparte is always fortunate as well as possible. Though the army has made a retrograde movement, it is not at all the consequence of defeat, but from a want of energetic, and in order to get nearer General Blucher."

"Which would you rather have: three bags with two apples in each bag, or two bags with three apples in each bag?" asked the teacher.

"Three bags with two apples in each bag," said a boy in one of the last seats, while the class still debated as to the best answer.

"Why, Paul?" asked the teacher. "Because there'd be one more bag to bust," announced the practical young mathematician.

WATS FOR "SIS HOPKINS"

was by the merest accident that Rose Melville, who is playing this in for the last time her original actor of "Sis Hopkins" did not appear without those famous red celluloid side combs which became as much a part of her costume as the gingham pinafore, the red stockings and the panella suit.

Eight years ago Miss Melville found ed away in a country store in Con- cut, half a dozen pairs of the red combs which had long before gone of fashion. The fact that it was as- sible to get any more, anywhere ed her to treasure more than any- er she owned of costume. It was, in all probability the last pairs of red celluloid side combs in

The Four Hundred's Story

THE wonderful story of "The Four Hundred" begins in Pearson's Magazine for November. It is the story of the rise and fall, morally and otherwise, of some of the richest families which have formed the so-called American aristocracy, to which most people kowtow. It is the story of society with a capital "S."

If you like to read about such "doings" begin to read these stories at the beginning. They are the stories of The Four Hundred. How the control of hard coal by a few men forces you to pay 75 cents a ton more than you ought to pay, and what you can do about it, is explained in another article. The beneficence of the automobile, the fallacy of the idea that automobiles are rich men's toys—is the subject of another. The fourth part of "The Usurped Power of the Courts" is in the same magazine, and this is a story which you should not miss. If you do, you will not be sorry that you did, and the fiction includes eight splendid short stories of romance, mystery and adventure—eight complete stories, and every one is good.

A Helpless Invalid

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

A woman who is sick and suffering and won't at least try a medicine which has the record of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, is it would almost seem, to blame for her own wretchedness. Read what this woman says: "Richmond, Mo. — 'When my second daughter was eighteen months old I was pronounced a hopeless invalid by specialists. I had a consultation of doctors and they said I had a severe case of ulceration. I was in bed for ten weeks, had sinking spells, and was pronounced to be in a dangerous condition. My father insisted that we try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and brought me six bottles. I soon began to improve, and before it had all been taken I was as well and strong as ever. My friends hardly recognized me so great was the change.' — Mrs. Woodson Branstetter, Richmond, Mo.

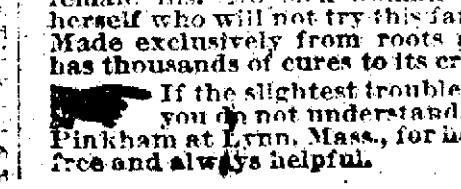

There are literally hundreds of thousands of women in the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over thirty years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering.

Read what another woman says: "Jonesboro, Texas. — 'I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for myself and daughter, and consider it unequalled for all female diseases. I would not be without it for anything. I wish every mother in America could be persuaded to use it as there would be less suffering among our sex then. I am always glad to speak a word of praise for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and you are at liberty to use this testimonial.' — Mrs. James T. Lawrence, Jonesboro, Texas.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, it is not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering from the same trouble?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

If the slightest trouble appears which you do not understand, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for her advice—it is free and always helpful.

A Badge of Honesty

Is printed on the outer wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it is the only medicine for woman's peculiar ailments, sold by druggists, the makers of which feel fully warranted in thus taking the afflicted into their full confidence.

The more known about the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the more confidently will invalid women rely upon it to cure their peculiar weaknesses and derangements. There's no secrecy about its make-up—no deceptive inducements held out to the afflicted. It's simply a good, honest, square-deal medicine with no alcohol, or injurious, habit-forming drugs in its composition. Made wholly from roots. It can do no harm in any condition of woman's organism.

Devised and put up by a physician of vast experience in the treatment of woman's maladies. Its ingredients have the indorsement of leading physicians in all schools of practice.

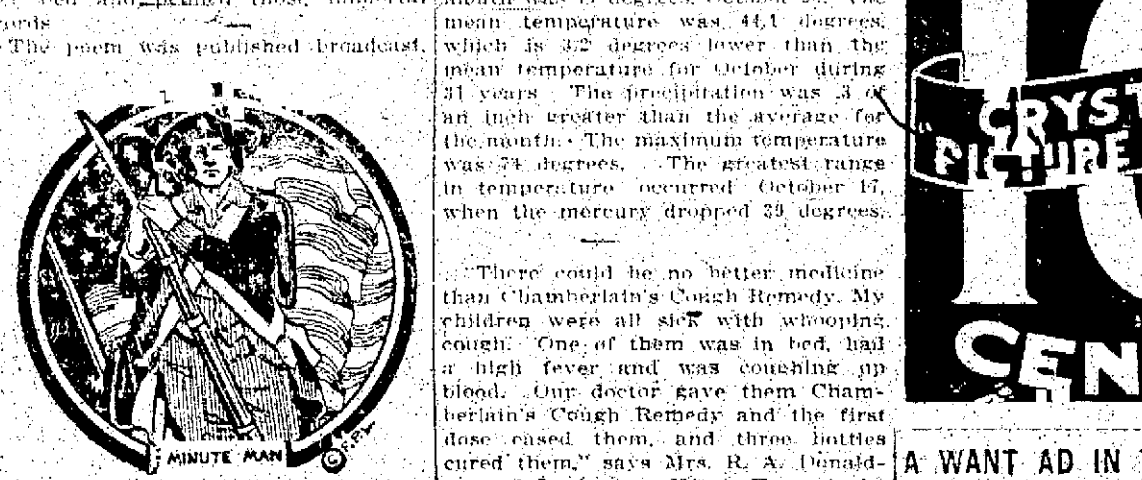

The "Favorite Prescription" is known everywhere as the standard remedy for diseases of women and has been so regarded for the past 40 years and more. Accept no secret nostrum in place of "Favorite Prescription"—a medicine of known composition, with a record of 40 years of cures behind it.

It's foolish and often dangerous to experiment with new or but slightly tested medicines—sometimes urged upon the afflicted as "just as good" or better than "Favorite Prescription." The dishonest dealer sometimes insists that he knows what the proffered substitute is made of, but you don't and it is decidedly for your interest that you should know what you are taking into your stomach and system expecting it to act as a curative. To him its only a difference of profit. Therefore, insist on having Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Deaths and Funerals

J. W. THATCHER DIES

J. W. Thatcher died at St. Francis hospital yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, following a short illness. He underwent an operation Monday. Mr. Thatcher was 56 years old and was well known in Colorado Springs, coming here about 11 years ago. He removed east again, and for a second time came to Colorado Springs, living at 381 North Corona street. Besides the widow, he leaves a son, Daniel Thatcher, 115 East San Miguel street. The body will be taken to Smithville, Mo., this evening for burial.

DIES IN LOS ANGELES

Advises received from Los Angeles yesterday stated that A. C. Van Cott, for nearly 20 years a resident of this city, died in Los Angeles yesterday. From the meager reports received it seems that heart failure was the cause, and that death was unexpected.

Mr. Van Cott was 46 years of age, and was well known in this district. For 15 years he was connected with the realty firm of Thurlow, Hutton and Williams, and was secretary of the Mary McKinnis Mining company. Five years ago Mr. Van Cott removed to Los Angeles, where, at the time of his death, he was secretary of the Commonwealth Mining company of Mexico. He came to this city from Durango, was a member of the El Paso and El Paso clubs, and owned the residence property at 205 Cheyenne avenue.

No funeral arrangements have been made, pending the arrival in Los Angeles of Mr. Van Cott's mother and sister who live in New York. Besides them he is survived by his widow.

Relative of the late S. R. Allen are expected to arrive in Colorado Springs today, to make final arrangements for the funeral services. Mr. Allen died suddenly of apoplexy Tuesday night at his home, 26 East Fountain street. He

MAY REVOKE LICENSE

K. R. Scott, colored, proprietor of a pool room on Huerfano street, received notice from the city council yesterday to appear in police court tomorrow morning and show cause why his pool room license should not be revoked. Scott and five other negroes were arrested Saturday night on a charge of gambling and permitting gambling. Chief Burns pointed out that convictions cannot be secured in police court when the value of playing chips is not known. He hopes to stamp out gambling in various places about town by having pool room licenses canceled. Mayor Avery expressed satisfaction at Chief Burns' desire to break up the practice, saying that he will support Burns in similar recommendations to the city council.
